DELIVERING LECTURES ON HOME ECONOMICS

Beginning the first of a series of home economic lectures to be delivered before various county institutes this fall, says Friday's Salt Lake Tribune, Miss Gertrude McChesney of the extension division of the agricultural college will go to Price today to address the Carbon county teachers' institute. She will lecture on home economics in the grade schools during the afternoon. In the evening her subject will be home economics in the high school. Carbon county is the first county in the state to institute home economic studies in the school under the new state law, according to Miss McChesney, who announces that she will be available for any county institute desiring to take up the work from now on.

KEPPEL'S ATTACK OF DEATH.

"Five years ago two doctors told me I had only two years to live." This startling statement was made by Stillman Green, Malachite, Colo. "They told me I would die of consumption. It was up to me to try the best lung medicine and I began to use Dr. King's New Discovery. It was well I did, for today I am working and believe I owe my life to this great throat and lung cure that has cheated the grave of another victim." It's folly to suffer with coughs, colds or other lung troubles now. Take the cure that's safest. Price 50 cents and $1.00. Trial bottle free at all dealers.

Mrs. Thomas Fitzgerald, who originated and conducted the carnival of the children that was presented two evenings of last week at City Hall, states that the total receipts amounted to $124.49, while the expenses were $23.55, leaving one hundred dollars eighty-five cents, which has been divided equally between the latter-day Saints tabernacle fund and the Methodist church. The expense incurred was for printing, hall rent, telegrams, electric lights, small items of merchandise and the like. The patronage was most gratifying to Mrs. Fitzgerald and the others in charge of the affair.

CAUGHT A BAD COLD.

"Last winter my son caught a very bad cold and the way he coughed was something dreadful," writes Mrs. Sarah E. Duncan of Tippecanoe, Ia. "We thought sure he was going into consumption. We bought just one bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and that one bottle stopped his cough and cured his cold completely." For sale by all dealers.

WILL PLACE EXPERIMENT STATION NEAR EPHRAIM

Secretary Wilson of the department of agriculture has decided to establish an experiment station on the Manti national forest near Ephraim for the study of grazing and water protection problems. It is expected to have the station in working order before winter.

REPUBLICANS PUT UP STRONG TICKET

Gov. William Spry Renominated By Acclamation, While Eastern Utah Gets State Treasurership Easily.

Utah republicans met in state convention at Salt Lake City Thursday of last week at 11 o'clock for the nomination of presidential electors, two congressmen-at-large and an entire state ticket. The convention was held at the Salt Lake theater. United States Senator George Sutherland presided as temporary chairman, delivering the keynote speech, which occupied most of the forenoon session. Arrangements for the temporary convention were made the day previous by the state committee. The temporary organization was later made permanent.

The Keynote Speech.

Grilling Theodore Roosevelt, former president of the United States and candidate for the highest office within the gift of the people of this country on the third party ticket, United States Senator Sutherland delivered the keynote speech for the republican party in Utah at the state convention of the party.

The speech lasted a little over an hour and was greeted by applause from time to time. During the more than an hour that the senator spoke he devoted less than three minutes to the democratic party. That was when he said that during the last fifty years the party had only been in the control of all the branches of the government once and that the workmen of the country would not like to see those days return.

The greater part of the address of the Utah senator was devoted to an arraignment of Roosevelt and the action of the committee at the Chicago convention which refused to seat certain contested delegates. Senator Sutherland was a member of the committee at the Chicago convention and went at length into what the committee did and why they did it. The speech was listened to with marked attention throughout and the temporary chairman was greeted with liberal applause at the close of his address.

He Grills Roosevelt.

Here in Utah there are no half-breeds in the republican party. We deny the justification or reason for the existence of a third party.

The Chicago convention refused to be bullied or coerced into nominating a certain strenuous gentleman. This one-man party was organized during the dog days of August.

The mistake was made when the third party adopted its name. It should have been called "the progressive party."

The attempt of Roosevelt to steal delegates at the Chicago convention was the most high handed in the history of politics.

If Roosevelt had been nominated at the Chicago convention there never would have been a third party.

Every Delegate There.

It was 11:45 o'clock when the state convention was called to order by assistant Secretary of State Cummings, in the absence of both the state chairman and the vice chairman. Practically every delegate's seat was filled and there was in the neighborhood of three hundred spectators on the lower floor and in the first gallery. The call for the convention was read in part by the secretary, after which the selection of temporary officers was announced.

DEMOCRATIC TEXT BOOK GOES AFTER THE TRUSTS

The democratic text book for 1912 has been received by democratic leaders in Utah. The book makes the high cost of living the paramount issue of the campaign and advocates sweeping tariff reductions as the remedy. The protective tariff system is strongly assailed.

One section of the book is devoted to a dissection of trusts. The trusts are taken up in detail and all monopoly attacked. Roosevelt, Taft, Perkins and Rockefeller are flayed. Considerable space is devoted to the biographical sketches of Woodrow Wilson and Thomas R. Marshall.
